CALL FOR POSTERS - Students & Emerging Professionals

Proposals due by March 15, 2016

Building a Place for History: the 2016 NJ History and Historic Preservation Conference invites proposals from students (graduate and undergraduate) and emerging professionals for a Poster Session to be held at the annual conference. The Poster Session is an opportunity to present work. Posters must engage subjects or projects related to historic preservation, history, archaeology, architecture, planning, museum studies, and/or public history. Submissions related to New Jersey subject matter are especially encouraged.

Posters will be chosen from among the submissions for display at the conference. A prize of $250 will be awarded for the best poster. All individuals whose posters are selected for display will receive a complimentary registration to both the 2016 and 2017 NJ History & Historic Preservation Conference.

The conference provides a unique opportunity for students and emerging professional to explore careers in historic preservation, network with professionals, and share their research with a professional audience.
