Discussion published by Maria Savvidis on Tuesday, October 26, 2021

Type:

Call for Papers

Date:

August 15, 2021 to November 15, 2021

Location:

Australia

Subject Fields:

Colonial and Post-Colonial History / Studies, Contemporary History, Immigration & Migration History / Studies, Oral History

Contributions are invited from Australia and overseas for publication in Oral History Australia's journal, Studies in Oral History, No. 44, 2022

This special issue proposes to explore the doing, collecting, and promoting of oral histories with migrant, refugee or diaspora subjects and communities. Papers that explore the migrant voice, and the sharing of migrant voices in public spaces, broadly defined, are invited.

Contributions are invited across the following themes:

- The absence or presence of migrant voices and subjectivities in the public realm, cultural collecting institutions (galleries, libraries, archives, and museums)
- The role of oral history in telling 'new' migration histories or histories of settlement and mobility
- Ethical and practical implications of working with migrant community groups in a GLAM setting / public history or heritage setting
- Modes of sharing migrant voices / methods and creative practice
- Archiving and preserving migrant oral histories (after the life of an exhibition for example) - issues of access and preservation for migrant community groups.

Papers may be submitted to the Oral History Australia Editorial Board for peer-review (limit: 8,000 words).

Before being submitted for peer-review, papers will first be assessed for suitability by the Editorial Board.

Contributions are invited from Australia and overseas.
