

MIT SHASS presents, "Worlds Enough and Time: Towards a Comparative Global Humanities"

Announcement published by jessica tranvo on Tuesday, November 2, 2021

Type:

Event

Date:

November 12, 2021 to November 13, 2021

Location:

Massachusetts, United States

Subject Fields:

Asian History / Studies, African History / Studies, Middle East History / Studies, South Asian History / Studies, Southeast Asian History / Studies

When: Friday, Nov 12, 2021 08:00 AM - 12:00PM (Eastern Standard Time)

Saturday, Nov 13, 2021 08:00 AM - 11:00AM (EST)

Program Schedule | Speakers List

Website

This conference advocates for a new Comparative Global Humanities: the integrative transformation of the Humanities through a radical foregrounding of geographical scope and temporal depth. It embodies the belief that to create more equal societies in the present, we need to create more equality for other places and other pasts — and learn from all they have to offer. We aim to develop new comparative methodologies based on the world's archives and conceptual vocabularies. This allows us to address the social, political, and creative functions of cultural heritage in today's world and to advocate more effectively for social justice, and for cultural understanding and reconciliation.

Contact Info:

Register in advance for this meeting:

<https://mit.zoom.us/meeting/register/tJclduyogjssEtyKH2jw52RUgknfP6ws82Vi>

After registering, you will receive a confirmation email containing information about joining the meeting. Same link for both Friday & Saturday, password will be emailed.

Contact Email:

tranvoj@mit.edu

URL:

<http://comparativeglobalhumanities.mit.edu/>