Paul Kramer: "The Weight of the World - Transnational History as Critical Social Thought" (online, Friday Nov. 19th, 3-4:30pm EST)

Announcement published by Ayelet Marron on Thursday, November 18, 2021
Type: Lecture
Date: November 19, 2021
Location: United States
Subject Fields: American History / Studies, Colonial and Post-Colonial History / Studies, Nationalism History / Studies, World History / Studies, Research and Methodology

Dear Colleagues,

Please join the Rutgers Nation and Empire Working Group for an online lecture and Q&A with Dr. Paul Kramer, “The Weight of the World: Transnational History as Critical Social Thought”.

- When: Friday, November 19th 3:00-4:30pm EST
- Zoom registration: https://bit.ly/3ndMzOK

The Nation and Empire Working Group is associated with the Department of History at Rutgers University, and is sponsored by the Graduate Student Association, the Center for European Studies, and the Rutgers British Studies Center.

Dr. Paul Kramer is an Associate Professor in the Department of History at Vanderbilt University. He specializes in US history, with an emphasis on transnational, imperial and global histories, American social thought, and the politics of inequality. He is the author of The Blood of Government: Race, Empire, the United States, and the Philippines (University of North Carolina Press, 2006).

Looking forward,

Ayelet Marron and Josh Anthony, Co-Chairs

Contact Info:

Please message Ayelet Marron for any further questions.

Contact Email:
aje.marron@rutgers.edu
URL:
https://britishstudies.rutgers.edu/events/11849/the-weight-of-the-world-transnational-history-as-critic