

Ignorance, Abuse and Competition in the Politics of Holocaust Remembrance: ZOOM LECTURE

Announcement published by Laura Morowitz on Thursday, January 6, 2022

Type:

Lecture

Date:

February 10, 2022

Location:

New York, United States

Subject Fields:

Holocaust, Genocide, and Memory Studies, Modern European History / Studies, Jewish History / Studies, Intellectual History, Human Rights

DIRK RUPNOW, PROFESSOR AT THE INSTITUTE OF CONTEMPORARY HISTORY AND DEAN OF THE FACULTY OF PHILOSOPHY AND HISTORY, UNIVERSITY OF INNSBRUCK

FEBRUARY 10 2022@ 1:00 PM VIA ZOOM

REGISTER

IN ADVANCE: <https://wagner.zoom.us/meeting/register/tJAuf-uorDgsGtIiXW1BUUh12hWewlShKu7A>

"IGNORANCE, ABUSE AND COMPETITION IN THE POLITICS OF HOLOCAUST REMEMBRANCE"

After a period of globalization and institutionalization, Holocaust remembrance appears to be subject to profound changes. This talk attempts to outline the status and the present challenges in European, "Western" and global contexts. It will raise questions about the meaning of Holocaust remembrance in the increasingly divers European "migration societies", not the least during a moment of a perceived refugee crises in Europe, as well as evident Racism and ever growing Islamophobia; and at the same time, the global "competition" between memory of the Holocaust and the crimes of European colonial powers, as well as their relative place in European memory. These are not new questions, but ones that are increasingly relevant and controversial.

Contact Info:

Laura Morowitz

Contact Email:

lmorowit@wagner.edu