Carleton College
Instructor, Buddhist Studies in India

Carleton Global Engagement Programs seeks two instructors to accompany the Buddhist Studies Program to Bodh Gaya, India, in the fall of 2022. This semester-long program draws undergraduates from colleges throughout the United States and Canada.

Candidates should have background in two of the following: Buddhist philosophy, cultural anthropology, classical Indian history, conversational Hindi or Tibetan. Qualifications: Ph.D. preferred, but applicants with an M.A. will be considered; experience in teaching, in Buddhist meditation, and in living in India; maturity and flexibility; excellent health. Round-trip transportation, room and board for the duration of the program plus a stipend are provided.
