Deadline Extension: Urban governance and civic participation in words and stone: Central Europe 1200-1600

Discussion published by Anja Božič on Monday, March 7, 2022

Dear colleagues, join us for a summer course “Urban governance and civic participation in words and stone. Urbanism in Central Europe 1200-1600” at Central European University (CEU) in Budapest, Hungary with field trips to Brno and Prague, July 11-19, 2022.

Application deadline extended: March 20, 2022.

The key topics include (a) the urbanization of Central Europe and the topography of governance; (b) the legal background of urban autonomy; (c) secular architecture and the display of authority; (d) sacred architecture and civic identity; (e) civic participation and municipal administration.

The course will consist of four types of activities: (1) thematic lectures given by one of the faculty members, (2) workshops analyzing a specific type of written or visual evidence under the guidance of two or three faculty members, (3) thematic city walks in Budapest, Brno and Prague, visiting sites and buildings, and (4) seminars where participants of the course present their research topics and receive feedback. Accepted participants will have a 3-day fieldtrip to Brno and Prague (4 nights’ accommodation and travel will be covered for them).

Financial aid available.

See our website: https://summeruniversity.ceu.edu/courses/urban-governance-and-civic-participation-words-a....