Fourteenth Annual Southeast Regional Graduate Student Conference

Call for Papers: “Resurgence, Revolt, & Revolution”

The Florida State University History Graduate Student Association is thrilled to announce the fourteenth annual Southeast Regional Graduate Student Conference. This dynamic event is scheduled for Friday, March 22, 2024, and will take place in person at Florida State University.

We invite submissions that creatively and critically engage with the themes of resurgence, revolt, and revolution across all disciplines. These terms can be broadly interpreted to explore various facets of historical, social, and cultural change. Topics may include, but are not limited to, political movements, cultural shifts, technological innovations, and resistance strategies.

Graduate students at all levels in the humanities and social sciences are strongly encouraged to participate. This conference serves as an inclusive platform for new graduate students to present their research, while also providing a valuable opportunity for advanced students to test ideas and receive constructive feedback from peers and senior academics.

Key Information:

- Submissions Due: 1/20/24
- Conference Acceptances Sent: 2/5/24
- Conference Date: 3/22/24
- Location: Florida State University, In-Person

Submission Guidelines:

- Please submit abstracts of no more than 300 words and a CV to our googleform.
- We accept both individual papers and complete panels. Panel proposals should include a 200-word description of the panel's topic as well as individual abstracts and CVs.

Conference Highlights:

- Engage with a diverse range of perspectives on the themes of resurgence, revolt, and revolution.
- Network with fellow graduate students and seasoned academics in a collegial environment.
- Receive detailed feedback from both audience members and panel commentators

We look forward to an intellectually stimulating and inclusive conference that fosters dialogue and collaboration across disciplines. Join us in exploring the myriad ways in which resurgence, revolt, and revolution shape our understanding of history and society.
