Dear colleagues,

As the book review editor, I am writing to encourage you to prepare and submit a book review for publication in Material Culture, the journal for the Pioneer America Society. I have attached our list of books we have selected for review and have identified several high priority areas:

- Books that we are targeting for the Fall 2014 special issue on technology. These reviews will be due by July 15, so please send in your request soon!
- High priority books are books that we feel are of special interest to our readers or we feel are especially ground-breaking in their disciplines.
- Last chance to review books are books that will be removed from our review list this year.
- All other books are, of course, available for review and included with this call.

If you are interested in reviewing any of these books, please get in touch with me (contact information above) and I will be happy to provide you with the book and our review guidelines. Thank you for your consideration!

Yours truly,

---

High priority books for review

---

Last chance to review

---

Other books available for review

